
Back to the Basics

Wexford Farms is a privately owned pine plantation located in Montgomery and Wheeler Counties, Georgia - 75 miles south of Macon and 90 miles northwest of Savannah. With 3,000 acres under management, the owners, Kelly and Patrick Moran, are committed to quail and wildlife preservation. We offer half day, walking quail hunts at reasonable prices. Hunters are provided guide, quality dogs, refreshments, and dressing of birds. You are invited and encouraged to bring your own gundogs. We welcome family hunts with special attention to first timers and youth.

Why spend your hard earned money and time on amenities that don't put birds in your bag? Our philosophy is simple, no frills, just superior quail hunting.

Small family groups make quail hunting a unique option for quality time together.

Our Philosophy

For true sportsman, few things are as cherished as a day afield. The crisp fresh air, the blue southern sky, the steady working of eager gundogs followed by the sheer exhilaration of the covey rise. Here at Wexford Farms, the Moran's are committed to creating that kind of experience. We are avid quail hunters who believe that the joy of southern quail hunting is the hunt itself, not a fancy lodge, hovering guides or noisy hunt buggies. We offer walking quail hunts over acres of fine southern pine forest. Wild and released quail provide a unique challenge to both dog and gunner. Wiregrass ridges, pine plantation, and creek bottoms blend to offer a variety of terrain. At Wexford Farms, we put our resources into the development of hunting land and hunting dogs, not bricks and mortar. Therefore, we give you more birds for your bucks.
